

THE JOURNAL OF INDUSTRIAL ECONOMICS

THIS Anglo-American Journal is especially devoted to the economic problems of industry and commerce. The intention is to publish articles of a scientific character, of value both to economists and to business men. It offers a medium for the academic industrial research work increasingly being carried on both in America and Britain, and also for the material arising inside business itself—important internal memoranda on problems facing a particular business or industry, which are at present lost to a wider audience. The objects are a better knowledge of general business problems, a contribution to economics as an academic subject, and a guide to public and private policies through the development of economic doctrines concerning business structure and behaviour.

The Editors will be glad to receive offers of suitable articles. MSS. from the United States should be sent to Professor Heflebower; and from other countries to the General Editor, care of Basil Blackwell, publisher, 49 Broad Street, Oxford, England. All other communications should be addressed to the Publisher.

The annual subscription (three numbers) is one guinea or $3.00 post free; the price of a single issue is 10s. or $1.40 post free. Remittances should be sent to Messrs. Basil Blackwell.
